

The climate crisis is not one topic but — like democracy and human rights — one dimension of every topic. Climate journalism is therefore not limited to individual events and cannot take place solely within narrow departmental and jurisdictional boundaries.

Charter of the Climate Journalism Network Germany

Short-term economic interests jeopardize the medium- and long-term interests of humanity and nature. Climate journalism avoids „false balance“ and exposes the evasive and deceptive tactics of individuals, corporations and organizations.

Charter of the Climate Journalism Network Germany